Chapter II

Legal protection to Indication of Origin of Goods

Article 6. Granting the Legal Protection to Indication of Origin of Goods

1. The legal protection of the simple indication of origin of goods is provided on the grounds of its use.

The legal protection of the simple indication of origin of goods includes non-admission of use of the indications that are not true (false) or which mislead consumers as to the real geographical place of origin of goods.

The simple indication of origin of goods shall not to be registered.

2. This Law grants the legal protection to qualified indication of origin of goods on the basis of their registration, the action of which is termless from the date of registration.

Article 7. Conditions for Granting the Legal Protection

1. The legal protection is granted for the qualified indication of origin of goods indicating specific geographical place from which goods originate, to which the grounds for refusal in granting of the legal protection, specified by this Law, do not apply.

3. The legal protection is provided for appellation of origin of goods, for which the following conditions are performed:

- a) it is the name of the geographical place from which goods originate;
- b) it is used as a name of goods or as a component part of that name;
- c) in the geographical place specified by that name the specific natural conditions or the combination of the natural conditions and human factor providing particular properties to the goods in comparison with similar goods from the other geographical places exist objectively;
- d) the goods marked with that name have respective properties that are exclusively, or essentially, due to the natural conditions specific for that geographical place or the combination of these conditions and human factor specific for that geographical place;
- e) production (extraction) and processing of goods marked with this name are performed within the designated geographical place.

Irrespective of the conditions provided for by this part, the name of a geographical place is considered the appellation of origin of goods in the case when the raw materials for the manufacturing of the goods originate from a geographical place other than the geographical place of manufacturing of the goods, if the geographical place of manufacturing (extraction) of the raw materials is determined, special conditions for manufacturing of such raw material exist and are controlled.

4. The legal protection is provided for geographical indication of origin of goods for which the following conditions are performed:

- a) it is the name of the geographical place from which that goods originate;
- b) it is used as a name of the goods or as a component part of that name;
- c) in the geographical place specified by that name there are the specific conditions and/or human factor providing the good with the certain properties or other characteristics;
- d) the goods marked with that name have certain properties, reputation or other characteristics that are mostly due to the natural conditions and/or human factor specific for that geographical place;
- e) at least the main component of the goods marked with that name is produced and/or processed within the boundaries of the designated geographical place.

5. The legal protection can be provided by the identical indication of origin of goods used for indication of similar goods different by their properties under the condition of the granting of the differences sufficient for the prevention of misleading of consumers as for real identification of goods.

6. The legal protection is provided by the homonymic indication of origin of goods under the condition of prevention of consumers' mislead as for real identification of goods, geographical place of origin of goods or its boundaries.

7. Legal protection as to an appellation of origin of goods or a geographical indication of origin of goods is also granted to a traditional geographical or non-geographical name used to designate the goods which meet the conditions provided for by parts three and four of this Article.

Article 8. Grounds for Refusal in Granting of Legal Protection for the Qualified Indication of Origin of Goods

1. This Law does not grant the legal protection for the qualified indication of origin of goods which:

- a) does not correspond to the conditions provided by the Article 7 of this Law;
- b) contradicts to the public order, principles of humanity and morals;
- c) is the generic name of goods;
- d) correctly indicates geographical place of production of goods, though forms at customers a wrong idea on the fact that the goods are produced in an other geographical place;
- e) is the name of variety of a plant or an animal breed, thus being able to mislead consumers as for real origin of goods.
- f) is identical or similar to the degree of confusion to a mark for goods and services, the rights for which are recognized in Ukraine, if, taking into consideration the reputation, distinctiveness and duration of the use of this mark, such legal protection may mislead consumers as to the identity of the goods.

2. This Law does not grant the legal protection to the qualified indication of origin of goods related to a geographical place in a foreign State, if the rights for this indication or another designation corresponding in content to the notion of a qualified indication of origin of goods are not protected in the relevant foreign State.

Chapter III

Procedure of registration of qualified Indication of origin of goods and/or of the right to use it

Article 9. The Right to Register of the Qualified Indication of Origin of Goods and/or to Use the Registered Qualified Indication of Origin of Goods

1. The right to register of the qualified indication of origin of goods is vested in:

- a) a person or a group of persons that in the claimed geographical place manufacture goods, the particular properties, certain qualities, reputation or other characteristics of which are related to that geographical place;
- б) the consumer associations;
- в) the institutions being directly related to production or investigation of relevant products, articles, technological processes or geographical places.

2. The right to use the registered appellation of origin of goods or the registered geographical indication of origin of goods is vested, subject to the registration of that right, in manufacturers which at the geographical place designated in the Register produce goods, the particular properties, certain qualities or other characteristics of which correspond with those included in the Register.

Article 10. An Application for Registration of Qualified Indication of Origin of Goods and/or of the Right to Use the Registered Qualified Indication of Origin of Goods

1. An application for registration of the qualified indication of origin of goods is filed to the Office by persons having right to registration according to the Paragraph one of the Article 9 of this Law. The application for registration of the right to use the registered qualified indication of origin of goods is filed to the Office by persons having right to such use according to the Paragraph two of the Article 9 of this Law.

If an application for registration of the qualified indication of origin of goods is filed to the Office by persons manufacturing goods for which the indication is claimed, the application is considered at the same time as the application for registration of the right to use that indication.

2. The application shall relate only to one indication of origin of goods.

3. On behalf of an applicant, the application can be filed through a representative in matters of intellectual property (patent attorney) or another authorized agent.

4. The application shall be made in the Ukrainian language and shall contain:

- a) a request for registration of the appellation of origin of goods or the geographical indication of origin of goods and/or the right to use the registered relevant qualified indication of origin of goods with information about an applicant and his/her address;
- b) the claimed appellation of origin of goods or the claimed geographical indication of origin of goods;
- c) a name of goods for which an applicant requests registration of the specified indication of origin of goods; and/or the right to use registered relevant qualified indication of origin of goods.

- f) the data on the use of the claimed qualified indication of origin of goods on the label and at marking goods;
- g) the data on interconnection of the particular properties, certain qualities, reputation or other characteristics of goods to the natural conditions and/or human factor of the specified geographical place.

5. Along with the application are filed:

- a) the document confirming the fact that the applicant manufactures goods for which he/she/it claims registration of the appellation of origin or the geographical indication of origin of goods and/or the right to use the registered relevant qualified indication of origin of goods;
- b) the conclusion of a Specially Authorized Body on the fact that the particular properties, certain qualities or other characteristics of goods identified in the application are objectively due to or related to the natural conditions and/or human factor of the named geographical place of production of goods;
- c) the conclusion of a Specially Authorized Body on the boundaries of the geographical place to which particular properties, certain qualities or other characteristics of goods are related.

6. Foreigners instead of the documents listed in the Paragraph five of this Article shall file along with the application documents confirming:

- a) the legal protection of the claimed qualified indication of origin of goods in the relevant foreign State or the acquisition of rights to such indication on the basis of fair use, if so provided for by the legislation of this State;
- b) the right of the foreign applicant or a person authorized by them to use the relevant qualified indication of origin of goods.

The documents provided by this Paragraph can be filed in foreign language and their translation into Ukrainian shall be filed to the Office not later than three months from the filing date of the application.

7. The date of filing an application shall be the date on which the Office receives the application on registration of the qualified indication of origin and/or the right to use the registered qualified indication of origin of goods.

8. A fee shall be paid for filing an application. In case the fee is not paid within two months from the filing date of the application, the application is considered to be not filed.

Article 11. Examination of an Application

1. The examination of an application has the status of scientific and technical examination and shall be held by the Examination Institute under this Law and according to the regulations established on its basis by the central body of executive power responsible for the formation of the state policy in the intellectual property sphere.

The Examination Institute shall carry out an information activity required for performance of examination of applications and shall be the center of an international exchange of publications according to the Convention on International Exchange of Publications adopted on December 3, 1958 by the United Nation General Conference for Education, Science and Culture.

2. An applicant has the right to take part in prescribed order, personally or through his/her/its representative, in consideration of problems arising in the course of the examination.

3. During examination holding, on initiative of the applicant, corrections of obvious errors and adjustment of description of the main characteristics of goods or the boundaries of the geographical place of origin of goods can be included to the application.

4. The examination of an application for registration of the qualified indication of origin of goods and/or of the right to use the registered qualified indication of origin of goods determines correspondence of the data given in the application to the provisions of the Articles 7, 8 and 9 of this Law.

5. In the course of examination of an application for registration of the qualified indication of origin of goods examination of that indication is performed with respect to the generic names included to the List of the generic names of goods.

The list of the generic names of goods is formed by the Office on the basis of the Regulations on the List of the generic names of goods approved by the central body of executive power responsible for the formation of the state policy in the intellectual property sphere.

In the case of the appellation of origin of the goods claimed for registration, or the geographical indication of origin of goods claimed for registration are included to the List of the generic names of goods, the decision on refusal in registration is sent to the applicant.

6. In the course of the examination the Examination Institute has the right to request from the applicant additional materials without which the examination is impossible.

The additional materials on request by the experts shall be submitted within three months from the date of having received the request. During that term the applicant can submit a petition for prolongation of the term for response or for the renewal of the term for response to the request missed due to reasonable excuse. A fee is paid for submission of the petition for prolongation of the term and for renewal of the missed term.

In the case of infringement by the applicant of the prescribed term or his leaving the request without reply, the application is considered withdrawn.

7. In case on the results of examination it is found that the claimed indication does not correspond to the conditions of provision of the legal protection to the appeal of origin of the goods, or the geographical indication of origin of goods, or that the applicant can not be given the right to use the previously registered appellation of origin of goods, or the previously registered geographical indication of origin of goods, the Office makes decision on refusal in registration.

The decision on the refusal in registration is sent to the applicant.

8. If after the results of the examination it is determined that the application meets the requirements provided by the Articles 7, 8 and 9 of this Law, information on the application is published in the Official Gazette of the Office.

The publication shall include:

information on the applicant (applicants);

the name of goods, including the claimed for registration appellation of origin of the goods or geographical indication of origin of goods;

the boundaries of the geographical place to which the particular properties, certain qualities or other characteristics of goods are related;

the description of the particular properties, certain qualities, reputation or other characteristics of goods;

the conditions of use of the qualified indication of origin of goods on the label and at marking goods.

The publication can also include other information identified in prescribed order.

9. After the publication of the official data on the application for registration of a qualified indication of origin of goods and/or the right to use the registered qualified indication of origin of goods, any person has the right to familiarize themselves with the materials of the application in the order prescribed by the central body of executive power responsible for the formation of the state policy in the intellectual property sphere. A fee is paid for familiarizing with the materials of the application.

10. Within six month from the date of the publication of official data on the application any person can submit to the Office an objection against registration of the claimed appellation of origin of goods or the claimed geographical indication of origin of goods and/or right to use the registered relevant qualified indication of origin of goods.

A fee is paid for the submission of objection. In case the fee is not paid, the objection is considered to be not submitted.

11. The copy of the objection submitted and information on the person having filed that objection are sent to the applicant. Within two month from the date of having received the copy of the objection the applicant shall send to the Office a substantiated reply to the objection or submit a petition for prolongation of the prescribed term for reply. A fee is paid for submission of the request for prolongation of the term. In case the fee is not paid, the term for giving response is not prolonged.

In case response to objections from the applicant does not come to the Office, the objection is considered in prescribed order on the basis of the available materials.

12. Objection and response on it are examined by the institution within two month from the day of the expiration of the term established for the response.

The applicant and the person having submitted the objection have the right to take part in its examination.

13. On the results of the examination of the objection a notification is sent to the person having submitted the objection.

14. In case of no objections been available or their recognition as not substantial, the Office decides on registration of that qualified indication of origin of goods and/or of the right to use the registered qualified indication of origin of goods and informs the applicant of it.

In case the objections examined are found substantial, the Office decides on refusal in registration and informs the applicant of it.

A decision on refusal in registration is published in the Official Gazette of the Office.

15. The applicant has the right to familiarize with all the materials identified in the request from the Examination Institute or in the decision of the Office. Copies of materials are sent to the applicant within a month from the day of receipt of the request.

Article 12. Withdrawal of an Application

The applicant has the right to withdraw the application at any time before the day of registration of the qualified indication of origin of goods and/or of right to use the qualified indication of origin of goods.

Article 13. Appellation Against Decision on an Application

1. An applicant may appeal to the court or to the Appellate Chamber against the Office decision on an application within two months from the date of receiving the Office decision.

2. If the Office decision on the application has been appealed to the court after the registration of qualified indication of origin of goods and/or the right to use the qualified indication of origin of goods, the court also decides the validity of the relevant registration.

3. The right to appeal the Office decision in the Appellate Chamber would be lost after the payment of the state fee for the issue of the certificate.

4. The appeal against the Office decision in the Appellate Chamber shall be accomplished by submitting an objection against the decision under the procedure determined by this Law and on its basis by the Regulations of the Appellate Chamber approved by the central body of executive power responsible for the formation of the state policy in the intellectual property sphere. A fee is paid for the submission of the objection. If the fee has not been paid within the period stipulated in part one of this Article, the objection shall be deemed not to have been submitted, of which a notification is sent to the applicant.

5. In case when the Appellate Chamber has received an objection and a document for payment of the fee for submitting the objection, the processing on the application shall be suspended until the approval of the decision by the Appellate Chamber.

6. An objection against the Office decision on an application shall be considered according the Appellate Chamber regulations within two months from the date of receiving the objection and the document on the payment of the fee for submitting the objection, within the framework of the grounds presented in the objection by the applicant and during the discussion of the objection. The period of consideration of the objection shall be extended on the initiative of the applicant, but for not more than two months, provided that the relevant request has been submitted and the fee has been paid with respect to the request.

7. On results of consideration of an objection, the Appellate Chamber shall made a grounded decision which shall be approved by the order of the Office and be sent to the applicant.

If an objection has been fully or partially satisfied, the fee for submitting the objection shall be returned to an applicant.

8. Before approving of the Appellate Chamber decision, within a month from the date of making the decision, the Head of the Office may present a grounded written protest against this decision, which shall be considered within a month. The decision of the Appellate Chamber made on the protest shall be final and may be cancelled only by the court.

9. An applicant may appeal to the court against the Appellate Chamber approved by the Office within two months from the date of receiving the decision.

Article 14. Registration of the Qualified Indication of Origin of Goods and/or of the Right to Use the Registered Qualified Indication of Origin of Goods

1. On the grounds of the decision made by the Office on registration of the qualified indication of origin of goods and/or right to use the registered qualified indication of origin of goods the relevant registration is performed.

2. The registration is performed through including to the Register required data on the qualified indication of origin of goods and/or of persons having right to use the registered qualified indication of origin of goods. The following data is included in the Register:
